Thanks to people like you, hundreds of thousands of school children are discovering the Bible through Open the Book. You can keep sharing God's word with future generations, too, with a gift in your will.

Many children simply have never heard these classic stories before. But with the great work that you're doing, children have an opportunity to hear the word of God and engage with it in a way that's right for them.

One of the most significant ways you can continue to support this mission is by remembering Open the Book in your will. By leaving a gift in your will, you will be leaving a lasting legacy – passing on the story of God in the world to future generations.

'I have seen many a burly Year 6 beaming with pride as they become a guard in Pharaoh's palace or an Israelite escaping through the waters of the Red Sea.'
Andy Browne, Head Teacher of St Nicholas CE Primary School

'You can hear a pin drop as we're doing the assembly. The children are super engaged and focused, and respond really well.'
Revd Mike Nelson, vicar at St Marks, Holbrook

We're so grateful to our Open the Book volunteers who are bringing the Bible to life for children today. Could you consider sharing God's word with tomorrow's children too, by leaving a gift in your will?

Zac, aged 7

Leaving a gift in your will to Open the Book means your choices will have a lasting and positive impact on the lives of children in this country. Certainly, your relatives and friends will be a priority in your thinking, but please consider supporting the mission to share God's word, too.

Peter and Angela LeRoy have done just that.

The couple have been Open the Book storytellers for years, prompted to get involved by a desire that their grandchildren should hear Bible stories at school. Their legacy gift will ensure their own ministry, through Open the Book, will continue far into the future. Peter said, 'Our hope is that more and more children will hear and see the Bible, and have in their bloodstream the great stories of Scripture.'

Your legacy gift could help reach more children with the Bible, so their lives can be changed, for good. Over the page, there's a form you can fill in to receive more information about leaving a legacy. There's no obligation or expectation, but if you do want to know more, we'd love to have a chat with you.

Open the Book is part of Bible Society – a charity that's on a global mission to bring the Bible to life for everyone. Why? Because when people engage with the Bible, their lives can change for good.
